Sports

Vision

Strive for "MASS PARTICIPATION" of youth in Games and Sports (Physical Activities) to develop Personal Health, Fitness and Social qualities which will enable them to become worthy citizens of India and in Process endeavour to produce National and International level players. If India is to be a strong nation in future the children and youth of today should play otherwise India will be a weak nation tomorrow.

Mission

“Games and Sports are the important dimensions of quality of an Institution of Higher Learning”.

Let the youth realize that “Body is the medium of all the endeavours”. Body should be strong to achieve heights in any sphere of life. To make youth aware of the importance of Games and Sports (Physical Activities) in the overall development i.e. Physical, Mental, Social and Spiritual.

Objective

- Promotion of Olympic Education and Values.
- To ensure "Mass Participation" of Students in Game & Sports.
- To motivate Students to achieve Health, Fitness & Social qualities.
- Special efforts to take Games & Sports to the Tribal Areas which dominate the university jurisdiction in order to harness & develop physical skills & capabilities of tribal Students.
- To achieve excellence in sports performance.
- Create standard Sports Infrastructure.

Sports

The objectives of the CIPC is as follows:

- To seek to make known the works of Pierre de Coubertin in their entirety, to identify the main lines of his thinking, and to ensure their dissemination throughout the world in order to contribute to human development and to finding solutions to current problems;
- To promote and foster the study of Pierre de Coubertin's integral humanism and his pedagogical and social thinking in order to identify more specifically the moral, civic, cultural and pedagogical teaching resulting from these;
- To translate Pierre de Coubertin's educational leitmotifs into our times in order to strengthen an objectively identification with Coubertin as founder of the Olympic Movement and promoter of sport as an educational tool for character development, social change and transcultural respect.
- To coordinate such study entrusted to the CIPC members or external experts selected on the basis of their specific expertise;
- To contribute to the adoption of rules and methods in accordance with such teaching, from which the Olympic Spirit originates;
- To honour and reward those people, bodies or entities whose conduct or activity best serves the ideals of Pierre de Coubertin;
- To work with those national and international organisations that have undertaken to disseminate the Olympic Spirit and further the legacy of Pierre de Coubertin;
- To ensure the international coordination of the activities of its members in their respective countries and of any Pierre de Coubertin committees that it has officially recognised.

Progressively mounting its presence across the five continents, the impact of the CIPC has become increasingly substantial over more than four decades. Objectively, it is comforting to note that a team of volunteers has been able to obtain such concrete results through various initiatives. Before some of them are listed it has to be stressed that the support of the IOC (International Olympic Committee) has contributed much to the realization of following projects:

- First and foremost, increasingly sound and solid editing and publishing work. It was essential to enable access to Coubertin's works and thought. This lengthy undertaking, which continues today, has been a great success. It also includes the translation of relevant works of and on Coubertin into various languages
- The continuous organisation of conferences, symposia, congresses and seminars.
- The presentation of various exhibitions, often touring, providing a visual illustration of the various sides to Coubertin.
- The ongoing development, every two years as of 1997, of International Youth Forums and the Network of Coubertin Schools, a practical and living application of Coubertin's versatile vision.
- All of this has been supported by the establishment of an increasingly broad network, supported by individuals as well as national Pierre de Coubertin committees such as the French Pierre de Coubertin Committee (currently known as the Committee Pierre de Coubertin France), which was created in 1950.

Last but not the least the following has to be mentioned: Since 2nd September 1937, when Pierre de Coubertin passed away, the world has changed, as has the way in which his career and his work are perceived and analysed, initially limited to the assertion and almost automatic communication of a certain number of clichés. Another view was that of obscurity or sometimes a strong intention to contest the originality and importance of his contribution. Then came the time to question, sometimes viciously, the enlightened renovator, the liberal thinker. Far from ignoring such reluctance, doubts and questions, the CIPC seeks to provide responses to them, because it is only too aware of the dangers of an abusive personality cult. It seeks to illustrate everything relevant about Coubertin, who was often a "pathfinder", a visionary, with a great deal to teach us, somebody who always walked a few steps ahead.

➤ What does the Youth benefit?

The Youth benefit by:

- Getting a wholesome Knowledge of the Founder of the Olympics the Great visionary Sir Baron Pierre de Coubertin and his Ideals.
- Learn Olympic Values & Olympism.

NRG CENTER ANAND

Good number of Gujaratis have traditionally gone abroad and have settled there permanently. They have acquired wealth as well as knowledge and skills about the latest developments all over the world. They are keen to use their knowledge, skills as well as wealth for the betterment of their homeland. Although, the NRIs made certain efforts on their own initiative in the fields of development, education and investment in Gujarat, there was no formal and organized link between the NRIs and the Government of Gujarat.

The need for such a link was keenly felt by the Government. Such a link should be on a permanent basis and, hence, it was felt that there should be a Division/Cell to start with. This division/cell will receive requests/proposals and ideas from the NRIs. It will be promptly looked into by the Government. Necessary follow-up steps will have to be taken. Since speedy and coordinated approach is of paramount importance to deal with this matter, it was decided that there should be an NRIs Division under the General Administration Department of the Government.
